

Come and Join us for Galantine's Day

A celebration of and in support of all women in the workforce

All genders are welcome to attend

Join us for a presentation and discussion on gender inequality in the workplace!

We will look at employment discrimination and sexual harassment, the wage gap, and the clustering of women in a relatively small number of largely female occupations.

We ask, what determines and constrains women's work in the United States? How is this different for women of various minority groups? What does this mean for you and your work life? Next steps at Umass?

Date: Thursday, February 13th

Time: Noon-1:00pm

Location: Draper Hall Room 122

Brown Bag: bring your own lunch, cookies will be provided

Speaker: Clare Hammonds, Graduate Program Director,
Umass Labor Center, Lecturer from the Department of Sociology, Umass

No need to RSVP but it helps to know how many cookies to order. Thank you!
